General Information

Overview

The discipline of psychology has a long history of using research and theory to provide explanations for the complexities of human behaviour. Yet, we live in a world that is rapidly changing – environmentally, socially, politically, and technologically. In this unit, you will learn how psychology is responding to contemporary challenges, particularly when it comes to diverse and vulnerable groups in our society. You will be exposed to critical and emerging issues in the study of psychology. Drawing on a scientist-practitioner approach, you will examine how psychological theory and research can be applied to the identification and evaluation of solutions to these challenges.

Task Description

The aim of this assessment is to demonstrate competence in the following unit learning outcomes: 1) Critically analyse how psychological theory and research has been applied to understand contemporary issues and challenges of human behaviour; 2) Apply an evidence-based psychological solution to a contemporary societal or global issue or challenge; 3) Effectively communicate how psychological theory and research can be used to understand and provide solutions for contemporary societal or global issues.

Assessment word count: Each section has a word limit (specified on the grant application template) +/- 10% Overall Weighting: 50%

A grant application template has been provided (plus an annotated template with guiding comments). You are to complete this grant proposal as an employee of a grassroots community organisation. You will need to 'make up' this organisation and its mission/purpose. E.g., Thorne Thought is a not-for-profit dedicated to improving the mental health and wellbeing of young people in South Australia. You are free to choose the contemporary challenge (and potentially a the diverse/vulnerable group) that you address. It is a good idea to peruse the topics that we are covering in this unit and consider using one of these or the resources provided. Your grassroots organisation will have one year to complete this project (March 1, 2024 – March 1, 2025). Please ensure that your timelines are consistent with these dates. More detailed information is available in the Assessment tab of Moodle.

Presentation

Task Description

The aim of this assessment is to demonstrate competence in the following unit learning outcomes: 1) Critically analyse how psychological theory and research has been applied to understand contemporary issues and challenges of human behaviour; 2) Apply an evidence-based psychological solution to a contemporary societal or global issue or challenge; 3) Effectively communicate how psychological theory and research can be used to understand and provide solutions for contemporary societal or global issues.

The presentation will be 10 minutes duration.

Overall Weighting: 50%

This will take the form of an oral presentation to a panel of potential funders where you will be providing information on the background to the contemporary issue, identification of why it is a problem, and suggesting a potential intervention to implement and then evaluate. This will require a good knowledge of the background literature and skilled critical evaluation of the issue and consideration of how it could be addressed. You will need to present information clearly and persuasively to a non-academic audience.

You will submit a very brief summary of the issue and proposed solution (approx 250 words) to Moodle.

PLEASE NOTE: This will be a different contemporary issue to the one you addressed for Assessment 1 (Grant Proposal).

Assessment Due Date

Individual sessions will be scheduled in Weeks 10, 11, and 12

Return Date to Students

Marks and individual feedback will be provided to students once all presentations have been viewed and marked

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre (ALC) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
