Term 2 - 2022

Profile information current as at 27/04/2024 02:07 pm

All details in this unit profile for PSYC20038 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

This unit will introduce you to key research interests in the positive psychology domain, and the various methodological approaches to research as they relate to positive psychology. You will develop a critical understanding of the research process and its application within positive psychology research and assessment. The unit will help you to become familiar with research processes that are robust and ethical, the importance of evidence-based decision making, and the importance of measuring the impact of interventions using positive psychology research methods. You will be encouraged to consider how research evidence contributes to best practice. You will learn skills in interpreting and critically evaluating the quality of published research evidence, and consider the ways research knowledge can be used to guide intervention design and procedures. There will be an overarching focus on becoming a critical consumer and user of this scientific research literature to inform the development of future research questions, intervention strategies, and professional practice.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teacher Evaluation responses and student emails.

Feedback

Many students valued the research knowledge they gained from the well-structured unit content.

Recommendation

The unit coordinator will maintain the structure and organisation of unit content.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teacher Evaluation responses, student emails, moodle forum posts.

Feedback

Students appreciated how the online quiz assessments encouraged deeper engagement with the unit content, and praised the applied nature of the short-answer questions used.

Recommendation

The unit will continue to use online quizzes as an assessment tool.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teacher Evaluation responses.

Feedback

Many students valued the nested structure of the assessment pieces, with each assessment building on the previous one and leading to a final assessment on a topic of their own interest that required use of the learning gained from earlier assessments.

Recommendation

The unit will continue to use this nested structure to the assessment pieces, where each assessment builds on skills developed as part of previous assessments. The final assessment will continue to allow students to choose their own topic of interest to investigate.

Feedback from Student Unit and Teacher Evaluation responses.

Feedback

Several students indicated that they found the zoom workshops and drop-in sessions helpful, with a few students suggesting that they would benefit from more demonstrations and guidance.

Recommendation

The unit coordinator and teaching team will explore options for increasing skill demonstrations and guidance opportunities.

Assessment Tasks

1 Assessment 1: Research Summary

Assessment Type

Research Assignment

Task Description

In this assessment task, you will begin the process of engaging with peer-reviewed empirical literature in an area that interests you within the domain of Positive Psychology/wellbeing/resilience.

You will:

1. Identify a research area of strong interest for you in the field of Positive Psychology/wellbeing/resilience.
2. Conduct a peer-reviewed literature search through the CQUniversity library for published empirical research studies relevant to your area of research interest.
3. Write a brief (100-word) description of the literature searching methods used to find the peer-reviewed empirical journal articles.
4. Based on the literature found, provide a brief (200-word) description of your chosen topic of research interest, which reflects the importance of the topic to the field of positive psychology.
5. From the literature found, choose two peer-reviewed empirical research articles highly relevant to your area of research interest which have closely-aligned research aims, and write a brief (100-word) justification for why you specifically chose each of the final two articles.
6. For each research article, complete the research summary table (provided on Moodle) outlining the study aims/research questions, study research methods and ethical considerations, study findings, and study strengths/limitations and future directions (maximum of 2 pages per study)
7. Write a 300-word synthesis summarising and integrating what knowledge was gained overall from the findings of the studies in relation to your stated area of research interest, and the significance of these findings for contributing to our understanding about the area. This synthesis should lead into a critical appraisal statement outlining what could be the next logical step for future research to take to further build knowledge in the area.

The maximum word count for this assessment task is 700 words (+/- 10%). This word limit includes in-text citations but excludes the reference list. The word count excludes the words in the study summary tables, but the study tables must not exceed 2 pages per study. Meeting the word count is included as a part of the marking criteria in your marking rubric on Moodle. See the Psychology Word Count Information document on Moodle for a rationale for using this type of word limit restriction.

Further information will be provided in the Unit and Assessment Guide on the unit Moodle site.

Assessment Due Date

Week 6 Monday (22 Aug 2022) 5:00 pm AEST

Return Date to Students

Week 8 Monday (5 Sept 2022)

Feedback and mark for this assessment will be provided within 2 weeks of submission.

Weighting

The online quizzes will be completed via the Moodle website. The quizzes overall will be comprised of 40 questions, some of which will be multiple-choice, and others will be multi-component questions or questions requiring a short written answer. The quizzes will be available from Week 2 until Week 10.

3 Assessment 3: Critical Review and Future Research Recommendations

Assessment Type

Critical Review

Task Description

In this final assessment, you will source and critically evaluate two published research articles, and develop a future research question based on your critical evaluation of these articles. The two articles included will be your choice, but must be:

1. Peer-reviewed primary source journal articles (i.e., articles reporting new research findings from an original study) that are published in reputable journals.
2. Relevant to one specific area of interest in the Positive Psychology/wellbeing/resilience domain, but this must be a different area of focus than the choice in Assessment 1. You will source two journal articles each reporting an empirical study relevant to the chosen area of interest, ensuring that you have not previously critiqued these journal articles in this unit or other units in this course.

The assessment piece will include consideration of the following:

- What is the predominant area of interest for the researcher/s, and why is the area considered important? (This will be the basis for the introduction.)
- What are the main research questions in each article?
- Compare and contrast the methodologies used by the researchers in each article
- What are the key findings in each of the publications, and do they appear to be justified? (Are the conclusions drawn justified based on the evidence gained in the study?)
- What are the strengths and limitations of each of the research publications? (This should be more than a repetition of the limitations that the article authors report themselves.)
- A critical evaluation of the suggestions made by the researcher(s) for future research
- Identification of an important 'gap' in the research literature (based on the 2 chosen publications) that you propose could be further explored in research, and a justification for why this proposed future research would be worthwhile. The justification will include how addressing this 'gap' links to the publications you have reviewed, and is a logical next-step for developing the publication authors' line of inquiry further.
- Formulation of at least one future research question that would meaningfully address the identified 'gap' in knowledge (using the guiding principles of the PICO/PEO [Population, Intervention/Exposure, Comparison, Outcomes] framework).

The maximum word count for this assessment task is 2000 words (+/- 10%). This word limit includes in-text citations but excludes any reference section. Meeting the word count is included as a part of the marking criteria in your marking rubric on Moodle. See the Psychology Word Count Information document on Moodle for a rationale for using this type of word limit restriction.

Further information will be provided in the Unit and Assessment Guide on the unit Moodle site.

Assessment Due Date

Week 12 Tuesday (4 Oct 2022) 5:00 pm AEST

Return Date to Students

Exam Week Tuesday (18 Oct 2022)

Feedback and mark for this assessment will be provided within 2 weeks of submission.

Weighting

55%

Assessment Criteria

This assessment task will be assessed via a marking rubric, which will be available on the unit Moodle site.

You will be assessed on:

- Identification of the predominant research area of interest in the studies, and their research questions
- Quality of comparing and contrasting of the research methodologies used in the studies
- Ability to interpret, critique and summarise the reported research findings
- Quality and comprehensiveness of the identification of the strengths, weaknesses, and future research directions
- Critical analysis of key gaps/areas for further research based on the chosen literature
- Rationale as to why the identified gap would be of benefit to address in future research
- Development of a meaningful research question using the principles of the PICO/PEO (Population, Intervention/Exposure, Comparison, and Outcomes) style framework.
- Clarity, conciseness and quality of written communication and critical thinking in the assessment, and adherence to the word-limit.
- Correct use of APA referencing style for in-text citations and the Reference list.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
