

PSYC20044 Applied Positive Psychology Project

A

Term 1 - 2024

Profile information current as at 30/04/2024 07:05 pm

All details in this unit profile for PSYC20044 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

Applied Positive Psychology Project A is the first of two integrated units. In these units, you will plan and design a research project - either a research study or systematic review - in an applied positive psychology/wellbeing and/or resilience-related field. Under the supervision of a qualified Academic supervisor, you will develop a research project proposal. This will involve undertaking (i) a preliminary literature review to identify and support your proposal; and (ii) developing a project plan, including proposed Methods, Data Collection and Analysis sections. As part of the unit, you will also complete a relevant ethics application for a proposed project. In the unit Applied Positive Psychology Project B (PSYC20045), which is Stage 2 of the process, following proposal approval, you will undertake your research study or systematic review.

- Online

Attendance Requirements

All on-campus students are expected to attend scheduled classes - in some units, these classes are identified as a mandatory (pass/fail) component and attendance is compulsory. International students, on a student visa, must maintain a full time study load and meet both attendance and academic progress requirements in each study period (satisfactory attendance for International students is defined as maintaining at least an 80% attendance record).

Website

This unit has a website, within the Moodle system, which is available two weeks before the start of term. It is important that you visit your Moodle site throughout the term. Please visit Moodle for more information.

This list is not an exhaustive list of all University policies. The full list of University policies are available on the CQUniversity Policy site.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student feedback (evaluations).

Feedback

Students felt that the unit was well designed and the content prepared them for undertaking their research project.

Recommendation

Retain structure and content of the unit.

Feedback from Student feedback (evaluations).

Feedback

Students found the library session very useful, but would have liked it run earlier in the term so that they could use it when preparing their research proposal.

Recommendation

Schedule the library session for earlier in the term so that students may use it when preparing their research proposal.

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Apply knowledge and ethical approaches from relevant research domains to develop a proposal for an applied Positive Psychology research project
2. Apply critical evaluation skills to identify and evaluate relevant research literature for a research project
3. Complete a relevant research ethics application for a project.

N/A - the Master of Applied Positive Psychology has no accreditation requirements.

Additional Textbook Information

These textbooks will be useful to you in both Term 1 (PSYC20044) and Term 2 (PSYC20045) for undertaking your research project. The Pallant (2020) book is useful for students conducting a research study involving quantitative components, and it can be accessed free-of-charge as an e-book by students via the CQU Library Catalogue. The Braun and Clarke (2013) book is useful for students conducting a research study involving qualitative components, and is available for loan through the CQU Library. The Boland et al. (2017) book is useful for students conducting a systematic review, and is available for loan through the CQU Library.

If you wish to purchase hardcopies so that you always have access to the texts, you can do so through the CQU Bookshop here: <http://bookshop.cqu.edu.au>. Please consult with your supervisor prior to purchasing books so that they can advise you based on your specific research project.

Refine literature review and continue drafting Introduction and Methods sections.	All resources, including notes, videos, and activities, are available on Moodle.

Assessment Tasks

1 Research Project Research Proposal

Assessment Type

Research Proposal

Task Description

For this assessment, you are required to complete a 2500 word (+/- 10%) proposal for a research project - either a research study or systematic review.

The research proposal will clearly justify why the project would be important to implement (i.e., it is a meaningful and important gap in the literature, and extends the research knowledge in the study area of interest). Your proposal will include: Introduction/Background (of the relevant prior research in the area of interest), research question(s), proposed Methods, Data Collection and Analysis sections, Reflexivity Statement (reflection of your role in the research), and examination of ethical issues and potential risks.

Further task details for the research proposal, including structure and exemplars, will be available on the unit Moodle site.

Assessment Due Date

Week 8 Monday (29 Apr 2024) 5:00 pm AEST

Return Date to Students

Week 10 Monday (13 May 2024)

Feedback and grade for this assessment will be provided within 2 weeks of submission.

Weighting

Pass/Fail

Minimum mark or grade

Pass

Assessment Criteria

The project proposal is a non-graded Pass/Fail assessment item. However, in order to be enrolled in the subsequent Applied Positive Psychology Project B (PSYC20045), where you will complete the next stage of your project, your supervisor and the Unit Co-ordinator must pass the proposal.

Your submitted research proposal will be evaluated by your supervisor and an independent assessor who will provide feedback, required/suggested changes, and any recommendations regarding the project. You will be awarded either a Pass, a Resubmit, or a Discontinue grade. A Pass requires no changes to the proposal. Where further details are needed to clarify the intent and suitability of the proposed project, you will be invited to resubmit your proposal. In an instance where your supervisor cannot support the continuation of the proposed project, and the recommendation of the Unit Co-ordinator is that the project should discontinue, you will be notified that the proposal has failed to be supported and you cannot enroll in Applied Positive Psychology Project B (PSYC20045) for that year.

If revisions are required, the revised final research proposal due date is Week 12 Monday (27 May 2024) at 5PM.

Submission Instructions

A submission portal will be provided in the Assessment section of the unit Moodle site.

Learning Outcomes Assessed

- Apply knowledge and ethical approaches from relevant research domains to develop a proposal for an applied Positive Psychology research project
- Apply critical evaluation skills to identify and evaluate relevant research literature for a research project
- Complete a relevant research ethics application for a project.

Graduate Attributes

- Knowledge
- Communication
- Cognitive, technical and creative skills
- Research
- Self-management
- Ethical and Professional Responsibility
- Leadership

2 Ethics Application

Assessment Type

Practical Assessment

Task Description

For this assessment, you are required to complete an ethics application for the proposed research project.

You will complete an ethics application that is either submitted to the relevant ethics committee(s) for approval (if approval is required for your study), or a completed ethics application that is submitted to your supervisor and the Unit Coordinator (if approval is not required).

Assessment Due Date

Week 11 Friday (24 May 2024) 5:00 pm AEST

Submission to the Ethics Committee can occur earlier if approved by Supervisor.

Return Date to Students

Review/Exam Week Monday (3 June 2024)

Unit Co-ordinator will award a Pass mark for this assessment piece on submission of the application.

Weighting

Pass/Fail

Minimum mark or grade

Pass

Assessment Criteria

The ethics application is a non-graded Pass/Fail assessment item. However, in order to be enrolled in the subsequent Applied Positive Psychology Project B (PSYC20045), where you will complete the next stage of your project, an ethics application must be completed to the satisfaction of your supervisor/Unit co-ordinator.

Your supervisor will review your ethics application and give feedback before you submit the application to the relevant ethics committee(s) or through the Moodle site. Before data collection for a research study can commence, the CQU Ethics Committee and any other relevant ethics committees must approve your application.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
