

PSYC29003 Coaching Individuals for Positive Change

Term 1 - 2023

Profile information current as at 05/05/2024 02:44 pm

All details in this unit profile for PSYC29003 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will develop practical evidence-based positive psychology coaching skills for working with individual clients on positive behaviour change. Your practical coursework will include fundamental coaching skills for building a positive working alliance using active listening and skillful questioning. You will also use positive psychology theory and tools for working with clients to enhance positive emotions, explore character strengths, and build hope.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Assessment Tasks

1 Coaching session

Assessment Type

Practical Assessment

Task Description

For this assessment you will conduct a short (7 minute maximum) coaching session with another student from this unit to demonstrate your understanding and embodiment of:

1. The foundational skills for building a positive working alliance (demonstrating unconditional positive regard, accurate empathy, warmth, and congruence through verbal and non-verbal attending and responding);
2. Active Constructive Responding.

Each student in the pair will take turns being the coach and coachee.

Preparation for this assessment

There are readings and video resources on these skills available on Moodle. We will be further developing these skills using role plays and group discussions in the first of the unit workshops.

Instructions for the coachee

Prior to the coaching session, the coachee chooses a positive experience in their lives (e.g., an achievement at work or in study or in their personal goals such as fitness, receiving an award, completing a project, being recognised in their community or for their volunteering, planning an important trip, achieving a life milestone).

Instructions for the coach

The coach will ask the coachee to share their positive event. The coach will use the skills for building a positive working alliance and Active Constructive Responding to encourage the coachee to fully share their positive experience.

The coaching session must include:

1. Non-verbals: body language (eyes, posture, facial expressions) and voice (tone and pace) to effectively to build the positive working alliance
2. Verbals: A minimum of 3 paraphrases, or 2 paraphrases and a summary to effectively build the positive working alliance
3. Active Constructive Responding: A minimum of 3 active constructive questions

Submission

You will submit an unedited video recording of the coaching session. The recording of the session in which you acted in the role of the coach must show both the coach and the coachee throughout the video.

The coaching session is a maximum of 7 minutes.

Assessment Due Date

Week 4 Monday (27 Mar 2023) 5:00 pm AEST

Return Date to Students

Vacation Week Monday (10 Apr 2023)

Assessment feedback will be returned 2 weeks from the date of assessment submission.

Weighting

30%

Assessment Criteria

The submission of your coaching session as a coach will be evaluated on:

1. Use of non-verbals: body language (physical position, eye contact, facial expression) and voice tone and pace to develop a positive working alliance
2. Use of verbal skills of paraphrasing and summarizing to build positive working alliance
3. Use of skillful Active Constructive questions to explore the positive aspects of the experience
4. Adherence to time limit

Submission Instructions

The assessment will be submitted through the assessment portal in Moodle.

Learning Outcomes Assessed

- Apply knowledge and skills from counselling, coaching and humanistic psychology to create and maintain a positive working alliance with clients in coaching sessions
- Apply positive psychology theories of change, tools and strategies to coaching individuals

2 Hope Map

Assessment Type

Practical Assessment

Task Description

In this assessment, you will act in the role of a coach to create a Hope Map with your coachee, who will be another student from this unit.

Preparation for this assessment

There are resources for goal-setting and creating a Hope Map on Moodle. We will use role playing exercises and self-reflection activities and group discussions in the unit workshops to practice Hope Mapping with clients.

The coaching session

The coaching session involves the student acting as a coach guiding the coachee to develop a Hope Map which includes a SMART environmental sustainability goal.

Instructions for the coach

The Hope Map draws on goal-setting skills and combines these with an understanding of Snyder's theory of hope. The coach should be familiar with this theoretical underpinning to lead their client to the development of a useable Hope Map which could support the client to reach an identified, realistic goal in a reasonable timeframe (a SMART goal).

The coach runs the session/s as a real-world coaching session (i.e., as if you were in a coach and client relationship, not doing an assessment).

The coach will outline the exercise and its purpose and provide the necessary resources for creating the Hope Map (e.g., use the whiteboard function in Zoom).

As coach you will:

1. Guide the coachee to develop a eudaimonic goal that is focused on an area of environmental sustainability (e.g., related to plant-based eating, reducing carbon emissions, growing food, increasing local biodiversity).
2. Guide the coachee to develop this goal using the SMART framework.
3. Develop the Hope Map based on the SMART goal (pathways, obstacles, strengths, support).
4. Design the final Hope Map in such a way that it supports the use of the map as a hope enhancing tool for the coachee using imagery, colour and layout.

Throughout the session/s you will draw on foundational coaching skills to build the positive working alliance.

Submission

You will submit the completed Hope Map that you developed in your role as coach.

The completed Hope Map needs to include:

1. One (1) SMART environmental/sustainability goal
2. Three (3) pathways to that goal
3. One (1) obstacle for each of the 3 pathways (so, 3 obstacles in total)
4. A way to overcome each of these obstacles (so, 3 ways to overcome obstacles in total)
5. Two (2) identified strengths which will support the client to reach their goal
6. Two (2) support person/animal/natural space/practice identified
7. One (1) way of measuring progress towards the goal

There is no word limit, but the recommended length of the Hope Map is one page which could be an A3 size page or an A4 page in landscape. This is so it works as a hope reminding tool - if it can be posted somewhere visible and is easily accessible then this will boost people's likelihood of using it and the likelihood of it increasing hope.

Assessment Due Date

Week 7 Monday (24 Apr 2023) 5:00 pm AEST

Return Date to Students

Week 9 Monday (8 May 2023)

Assessment feedback will be returned 2 weeks from the date of assessment submission.

Weighting

35%

Assessment Criteria

The submission will be evaluated on:

1. Application of goal-setting theories and research (SMART framework and the role of eudaimonic goals in boosting wellbeing) to develop an environmental sustainability goal with the client
2. Application of theories and research on goal-setting and hope to map pathways, obstacles, strengths and supports, and measures of progress for the client's goal
3. Application of theories on hope enhancement to create an accessible, engaging resource for client to support ongoing experiences of hope

- Apply positive psychology theories of change, tools and strategies to coaching individuals
- Apply critical knowledge of positive psychology concepts to adapt coaching techniques to diverse needs

3 Strengths Resource

Assessment Type

Practical Assessment

Task Description

In Assessment 3 you will develop a client resource that you could use as part of a debriefing session with a client after they have completed the VIA (Values in Action) survey. We are focussing on some of the more challenging strengths – the ones that have hidden beauty lurking underneath their names!

Preparation for this assessment

There are resources about strengths on Moodle. We will use brainstorming and group discussions in the third and fourth workshops to explore how to find new names for strengths, definitions of strengths and how we may debrief with clients about negative perceptions of strengths.

Task Instructions

You will choose one strength from this list of the lesser-known strengths that clients may perceive negatively or not understand:

- humility
- judgment
- prudence
- self-regulation

You will create a client handout on this strength that you would give to them to take home as part of your debriefing that would help them see this strength clearly and positively.

The client handout will include:

1. An evocative, insightful alternative name for this strength which captures its essence and is accessible and engaging.
2. A definition of this strength (i.e., what it is) using peer reviewed research literature. Be sure to respond to common myths and misconceptions about this strength in crafting your definition.
3. Three positive aspects of the strength (i.e., why is it valuable) using peer-reviewed research literature.
4. Outline how this strength is expressed in intrapersonal, interpersonal, feelings and thoughts domains (i.e., use holistic mapping here to help us outline this strength).

5. Identify at least one role model (someone real or a character in a book/movie) who uses this strength positively in the world.
6. Include an evidence-based exercise for developing this strength.
7. A list of references used in APA formatting.

As this will be a client handout, it needs to be accessible and engaging, ensuring that it supports clients' learning in a culturally safe and inclusive way.

Assessment Due Date

Week 11 Monday (22 May 2023) 5:00 pm AEST

Return Date to Students

Review/Exam Week Monday (5 June 2023)

Weighting

35%

Assessment Criteria

The submission will be evaluated on:

1. Depth and breadth of understanding of the strength.
2. Skilful use of quality research evidence and cultural resources to describe and illustrate the strength.
3. Application of principles of learning modes, accessibility and cultural sensitivity in the design of the strengths resource.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
