General Information

Overview

Employing the concepts and theories of contemporary social theorists, this unit analyses the medical model of health - both historically and comparatively. Topics covered include the reasons for the expansion of western medicine or medicalisation of society, the body and mind distinction in medical science - its consequences for health, the professionalisation of medicine, and the political economy of medicine.

Assessment Overview

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Moodle

The fact that the lectures and notes were available all at once really supported my needs to work externally

Recommendation

Lectures will be available in Week 1

Feedback from Moodle

It would be good if for the second assignment were given an example or template of how to write an essay

Recommendation

Will provide a template for how to write an essay

Unit Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. understand and articulate explanations of the medicalisation of society
2. describe the consequences for health of medical dominance
3. explain the sociological meanings of body, health and illness.
