

SOWK12008 Theories of Change for Professional Practice I

Term 1 - 2017

Profile information current as at 28/04/2024 11:27 pm

All details in this unit profile for SOWK12008 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

This unit presents the most contemporary theories that inform change-oriented professional practice including the history of psycho-dynamic approaches to human behaviour, crisis intervention and task-centred theory, cognitive-behavioural theory, attachment theory, and humanism, existentialism, and spirituality. The focus of this unit is on the application of this knowledge to the micro system of professional and individual client and the critical analysis of social work interventions and their effectiveness. Students should be able to analyse social theories to social work referral contexts.

Assessment Grading

This is a graded unit: your overall grade will be calculated from the marks or grades for each assessment task, based on the relative weightings shown in the table above. You must obtain an overall mark for the unit of at least 50%, or an overall grade of 'pass' in order to pass the unit. If any 'pass/fail' tasks are shown in the table above they must also be completed successfully ('pass' grade). You must also meet any minimum mark requirements specified for a particular assessment task, as detailed in the 'assessment task' section (note that in some instances, the minimum mark for a task may be greater than 50%). Consult the University's Grades and Results Policy for more details of interim results and final grades.

Assessment Tasks

1 Assessment task # 1: Theoretical hunches: Analysing the life circumstances of an individual client - 1500 words

Assessment Type

Written Assessment

Task Description

Purpose

This assessment task will assist you to step out the beginning phase of a client assessment with a focus on theory integration.

Role and Context

You are a social work student who has been placed in a human service organisation for your first placement. Your social work supervisor has advised that it is your responsibility to be prepared for weekly individual or group supervision sessions. Supervision provides an opportunity for professional discussion about your practice and developing skills and knowledge. Using the client referral information provided in moodle, you will submit a detailed written analysis of the life circumstances of the client in preparation for your supervision session prior to your first appointment.

An appendix is to be included which will include a series of notes that contain your initial hunches, ideas and hypothesis demonstrating your process of assessment. This may also include any post online zoom session reflections or thoughts. The format for the appendix can be of your choosing. This may include visual aides, thought clouds, tables, notes and diagrams etc.

Task Description

1. You will select (1) of the case studies provided in moodle to focus your analysis of the life circumstances of the individual client.
2. Online zoom group sessions will be held online in week 3/4 of term to discuss your thoughts, impressions, responses and hunches related to the case study. This session will mirror a group supervision session and it is advisable to participate in at least one session in order to incorporate feedback into your final submission. You will not be graded on the zoom session.
3. Select any (2) theories presented in the course and discuss how your assessment and your understanding of the client's life circumstances have been informed by these theories. How do the theories assist you to plan for the first appointment? The following are some prompts to assist you however you are strongly encouraged to add your own original ideas or the outcomes of individual research, discussion and reflection.

The (2) selected theories should assist you to discuss :

- hypotheses or hunches about what might be occurring for the client based on the referral information provided
- hypotheses or thoughts/hunches about some of the topic that may arise in your first face-to-face contact
- explanations about how the client has come into the service, and how services assist and or hinder the client issue
- any other practice issues the theory may help predict.

You may use headings to organise your ideas and present client information.

NB: Do not invest effort trying to 'match' the 'right theory' with a client referral. Every theory presented in the course has the capacity to guide your ideas, hypotheses, explanations or predictions about every client referral presented. The one exception is crisis. Wherever this is assessed to be occurring, to ensure the safety of clients and others, theories and frameworks for crisis intervention are a non-negotiable starting point. Logistics: Referral information about several clients will be loaded to the Moodle site for this course under the heading 'Referral information' on the first day of term. You will have a number of referral scenarios to choose from.

2 Assessment task# 2 In-service session

Assessment Type

Presentation and Written Assessment

Task Description

Focus: How might some theories assist understanding issues faced by mandatory clients and professional responses of engagement and rapport building?

Role: Imagine you are a graduate social worker employed in an organisation of your choice where a multidisciplinary team is the platform of your service delivery.

Context: Through the year, different professionals volunteer to present a topic on professional practice referred to as 'in-service sessions' geared toward the professional development of teams. You have identified emerging difficulties that other workers have been speaking about in relation to clients who are mandated (required by legislation and court orders/scheduling) to make contact for professional service.

You are free to choose a service required to receive mandated clients meaning you will need to identify, research, and understand the jurisdiction and roles of organisations in an actual community of your choice that have the authority for directing people to attend. The following examples of legislation containing mandatory orders will direct you to some of these human service organisations. You are free to choose others.

Queensland legislation can be located at <http://www.qld.gov.au>. You can select legislation relevant to your state of residence however please reference correctly.

-The Mental Health Act (See among others S17 (a-c) and SS499-501

-The Child Protection Act 1999 (See among others S61(A) and S98 (1) & (2))

-The Juvenile Justice Act 1992 (See among others SS175-182)

Australian legislation can be located at <http://www.comlaw.gov.au/>

-The Aged Care Act 1997

You have heard conversations in the staff room about clients' attitudes and behaviours, patterns of delegating those referrals to some professionals and not others, the wastage of public funds due to client drop out rates and breaches of orders, and overt verbal attacks from clients on staff members in public areas of the organisation such as the waiting room.

You have been asked by your team leader, who is a social worker, to deliver an in-service session providing a social work perspective on the topic of engaging with mandated clients. You have been briefed to provide two aspects to this presentation:

1. Adopt at least one (1) theoretical position to help explain and respond to client behaviours from the following choices:
 - humanism, existentialism and spirituality
 - cognitive-behavioural theory
 - psychodynamic theory
2. Link the ideas contained in these theories to practical strategies for professional engagement with involuntary and/or mandated clients.
3. Based on the location of the service (you choose) one section must be devoted to practise issues associated with local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander families and the largest culturally and linguistically diverse population in that statistical area (see Community Profiles at the ABS).

Product/performance: Your outcome will include:

1. A sequence of Powerpoint slides (500 words max i.e. key words and concepts. The Powerpoint slides are excluded from final word count).
2. Accompanying commentary/notes which would be used as reference material for speaking (no more than 2000 words official word count). The notes can either be located in the 'notes' section of the PPT slides OR submitted separately as a word document titled 'Speakers Notes and Commentary'. The speaker notes / commentary should be written in full sentences using appropriate scholarly conventions. A series of 'dot points' is not sufficient.
3. E-copies of handouts copy you believe necessary. These will not be included in the word count.
4. Reference list to be distributed to attendees (accurate application of Author Date referencing style)

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
