General Information

Overview

In this unit you will commence your study of acquired neurogenic communication disorders in children and adults. In Neurogenic Communication Disorders 1, you will learn about the aetiology, symptomatology and prognosis of the major diseases of the central and peripheral nervous systems that generate deficits in speech, language and cognitive communication. During this unit, you will use evidence-based practices to assess and classify acquired neurogenic communication disorders. You will apply the principles of interprofessional and reflective practice and the International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health framework throughout the unit.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Evaluation following intensive week. In class evaluation in week 12. Have Your Say feedback.

Feedback

The feedback provided on all three sources listed was overwhelmingly positive regarding the practical and interactive nature of the unit. This included the intensive week and the weekly scheduled classes.

Recommendation

Maintaining the interactive and engaging nature of this unit will continue to be a priority for the unit coordinator. The intensive (residential) week will no longer be required due to an increase in Speech Pathology teaching staff.

Feedback from Evaluation following intensive week. In class evaluation in week 12. Have Your Say feedback.

Feedback

The students provided extremely positive feedback on the quality of teaching by both the visiting lecturer and unit coordinator. This was also the case for the level of support provided by the unit coordinator.

Recommendation

The unit coordinator will continue to provide quality teaching and support for the students in this unit. Student evaluations at various points in the term will again be implemented to facilitate ongoing quality teaching and student engagement.

Feedback from Have Your Say feedback.

Feedback

The structure of the assessment tasks for 2107 and the timeliness of assessment return received positive feedback from the students. One suggestion for improvement was to include a video analysis task in the assessment battery.

Recommendation

The students' suggestion of a video analysis task in the assessment battery will be considered by the teaching team for 2018. Assessment tasks will continue to align strongly with the content taught to facilitate ongoing positive feedback regarding all aspects of assessments.

Term Specific Information

Welcome to SPCH13003 NEUROGENIC COMMUNICATION DISORDERS 1.

Your unit coordinator and primary lecturer is Tina Janes. Jenni-Lee Rees will also be taking you for the neuroanatomy content at the beginning of this unit. Whilst this unit has now been running since 2014, it has undergone changes in name and structure. It was previously named Neurogenic Communication Disorders (NCD) with a sole focus on acquired motor speech disorders. This is the first year with its new title of NCD 1, and the unit content forms the basis of learning that will continue in NCD 2 (SPCH13008) in term 2. NCD 1 will focus on neuroanatomy and the neurology of speech, neurogenic disorders aetiology, and assessment and diagnosis of speech, language and cognitive disorders associated with neurogenic disorders. NCD 2 will focus on the holistic management of neurogenic disorders.

You have been advised to purchase three textbooks this term, but these will be for both NCD 1 and NCD 2 (SPCH13008). These textbooks will be used throughout both terms and contain essential information for your assessments - particularly the examinations.

We hope you enjoy the learning and teaching experiences of SPCH13003.

Assessment Tasks

Written Assessment

Task Description

This assessment task aligns to the following learning outcomes (LO):

- LO1: Describe the aetiology and prognosis for the major diseases of the central and peripheral nervous systems that result in neurogenic communication disorders.
- LO3: Analyse diagnostic features of the presenting acquired neurogenic communication disorders.

Task Requirements:

You will each be provided with a specific diagnosis to research and submit to Moodle. You are required to conduct a literature review on your given diagnosis that summarises the aetiology, prognosis (outcomes), features and prevalence of the disorder. Specific attention must be given to the speech, language and cognitive communication presentation of your assigned disorder/diagnosis. You will propose a holistic assessment plan for such a client, and justify your reasons for selecting this assessment approach, including how the assessment results will guide your management of the client. The written assessment will be approximately 3000 words (+/-10%) and must align with APA, 2016, referencing standards.

You will be marked on the written assessment and you will share the information you have researched with your peers in an informal (and ungraded) class presentation.

Academic Integrity Statement

As a CQUniversity student you are expected to act honestly in all aspects of your academic work.

Any assessable work undertaken or submitted for review or assessment must be your own work. Assessable work is any type of work you do to meet the assessment requirements in the unit, including draft work submitted for review and feedback and final work to be assessed.

When you use the ideas, words or data of others in your assessment, you must thoroughly and clearly acknowledge the source of this information by using the correct referencing style for your unit. Using others' work without proper acknowledgement may be considered a form of intellectual dishonesty.

Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in your university study ensures the CQUniversity qualification you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

As a student, you are responsible for reading and following CQUniversity's policies, including the Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure. This policy sets out CQUniversity's expectations of you to act with integrity, examples of academic integrity breaches to avoid, the processes used to address alleged breaches of academic integrity, and potential penalties.

What is a breach of academic integrity?

A breach of academic integrity includes but is not limited to plagiarism, self-plagiarism, collusion, cheating, contract cheating, and academic misconduct. The Student Academic Integrity Policy and Procedure defines what these terms mean and gives examples.

Why is academic integrity important?

A breach of academic integrity may result in one or more penalties, including suspension or even expulsion from the University. It can also have negative implications for student visas and future enrolment at CQUniversity or elsewhere. Students who engage in contract cheating also risk being blackmailed by contract cheating services.

Where can I get assistance?

For academic advice and guidance, the Academic Learning Centre \(ALC\) can support you in becoming confident in completing assessments with integrity and of high standard.

What can you do to act with integrity?

Be Honest

If your assessment task is done by someone else, it would be dishonest of you to claim it as your own

Seek Help

If you are not sure about how to cite or reference in essays, reports etc, then seek help from your lecturer, the library or the Academic Learning Centre (ALC)

Produce Original Work

Originality comes from your ability to read widely, think critically, and apply your gained knowledge to address a question or problem
