SPCH13010 Swallowing and Feeding Across the Lifespan

Term 1 - 2027

Profile information current as at 07/09/2026 09:18 pm

All details in this unit profile for SPCH13010 have been officially approved by CQUniversity and represent a learning partnership between the University and you (our student). The information will not be changed unless absolutely necessary and any change will be clearly indicated by an approved correction included in the profile.

General Information

Overview

In this unit, you will learn about the development of feeding and the progression of swallowing across the lifespan. You will advance your competency in the assessment, analysis, planning and treatment of swallowing and feeding difficulties across the lifespan. You will consider the aetiology, diagnosis and management of swallowing and feeding in the context of the International Classification of Functioning, Disability and Health (ICF) framework. Evidence based practice will provide the foundation for your learning in all stages of diagnosis and management.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from Student Unit Evaluation

Feedback

Student comments indicated that some video content contained significant gaps, freezing, or delays that affected playback quality.

Recommendation

It is recommended that the unit coordinator perform a quality assurance check to identify any recorded lecture issues such as gaps, freezing, or playback delays.

Feedback from Student Unit Evaluation and Unit Coordinator Reflection

Feedback

Student feedback and instructor reflection suggested that hands-on learning experiences during tutorials enhance student engagement and support deeper understanding of course content.

Recommendation

It is recommended that tutorials continue to be designed to apply knowledge from lectures in a practical, hands-on manner.
