General Information

Overview

In this unit you will study the original storytelling practices of First Nations Peoples through to the development of more formal theatre practices of the ancient Greeks and Romans. You will examine the rites, rituals, legends and myths of the first storytellers in communicating ideas and ideals, education the masses and even manipulating the public discourse. You will apply and adapt these ancient ideas and practices in a presentation designed to communicate a social message to a modern audience.

Previous Student Feedback

Feedback, Recommendations and Responses

Every unit is reviewed for enhancement each year. At the most recent review, the following staff and student feedback items were identified and recommendations were made.

Feedback from staff feedback

The assessment tasks are scaffolded so that feedback on each task helps students develop the following task

Recommendation

Maintain this scaffolding approach to assessments in this unit

Feedback from student focus groups

Students share their work in the final assessment through peer review

Recommendation

Peer reviewing enable students to appreciate and learn from each other's research. Students learn about more topics than the one they have individually researched for the assessment task

Feedback from Student and staff feedback

Students appreciate support in academic writing

Recommendation

Maintain the Academic Learning Centre workshops in class in the first weeks of the course to introduce students to this support service.
